

GREENING TVET

ABSTRACT

Dual-TVET is an educational approach that combines theoretical learning with practical skills development. It aims to provide trainees with both technical expertise and hands-on experience, preparing them for specific careers in various industries.

TVET is directly linked to the labour market and hence plays a key role in providing knowledge and skills to facilitate the transition to greener economies and societies. Green skills are therefore emerging as a major skill set that employees are looking for in addition to the conventional technical and generic skills.

This course is designed to equip participants with the necessary skills to foster a sustainable transition to a greener economy. It focuses on understanding the evolving labor market demands, green competency, environmental stewardship and sustainability. Therefore, participants will gain insights into occupational skill effects in various industries and learn to align skills with environmental policies for a just and inclusive green transition.
